

أَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ الرَّجِيمِ

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

Suzy,

I would like to add to what I had said before.

A few years ago a church in Beaufort, South Carolina wanted some one from our masjid to talk to them about Islam. I volunteered and a person from our masjid joined to keep me company driving there.

When we got there, the church was full and the people were marvelously gracious. They spoke with such grace, kindness, humility and knowledge that made us feel at home.

They started with some impressive videos by prominent Muslim scholars born and raised in the United States; explaining Islam.

Obviously I was wondering what I would be talking about after those presentations.

My Lord had prepared me to take a different approach.

I started by asking where did Algebra come from, and then Alchemy and so on.¹

Then I asked to whom do these sciences belong?

Their obvious answer was 'to anybody who understands them and can make use of them' they are nobodies monopoly.

You've guessed my next question, "To whom does Truth belong?"

Obviously, To everybody!

1) We are told there would be no computer science or quantum physics without them.

To whom does Islam belong? (Submission to Almighty God)
From the first prophet to the last! To all the worthy, knowledgeable and to all God Loving people.

To all of you!! You people in particular.

I had to do some explaining and reorientation.

Almighty God is The Truth²

The Living Truth Forever Established and every moment establishing a new universe or universes. (II: 255, Ayatul Kursi) A moment ago many who were living are dead and a moment ago many who did not exist are born.

This is the religion of truth! (IX: 33, XLVIII: 27, LXII: 9)

Later someone from the audience asked about the difference between Shia and Sunnie. I gently reminded her that it was not a relevant subject.

At the end they lined up to shake our hands and thank us.

Suzy your children are my sister's children and Humayun's children are my brother's children; let them read what I have written.

When reading Sura Fateha, keep in mind that The Holy Quran was revealed to Mohammad (Sallallahu 'Alaihi wa Salam) with the Muqatta'at being his "titles" and that every "Qul" addresses him.

Think of whom Does Allah love above all?

With my best wishes.

Ismat U. Nawabi MD.
